Here's a testimonial from the Dinsmores on why it is worth your while to attend:

In the fall of 2023, Bill and I joined two couples from our church and attended the Legacy Grandparenting Summit in Dallas, TX. The Grandparents Ministry was still very new at College Park so we both knew this would be a great opportunity to learn from others and gain new insight from people a lot smarter and wiser than us!

Our expectations proved true; in fact, the whole experience was very much like "drinking from a firehose" as the expression goes. The panel of speakers were so varied in their backgrounds and professions, as well as life experiences, that each individual had a fresh take on how he or she was picking up the mantle of being an intentional Christian grandparent. Some of the speakers were familiar faces like Larry Fowler, founder of the Legacy Coalition; Pastor Tony Evans; Dr. Kathy Koch; and Mike Singletary. Others, such as Pastor Samuel Rodriguez and Mark Gregston, were new to us but had a wealth of wisdom and encouragement that we soaked up like sponges.

The summit also revealed to us that being an intentional Christian grandparent is a movement that is growing rapidly. (Imagine our delight to meet up with college friends we didn't know would be at the conference—small world.) As our culture reaches into our lives and our grandchildren's lives in increasingly destructive ways, we are realizing that complacency is not an option if we want our grands in heaven with us! The rallying cry, "We will not surrender our grandchildren," became embedded in us. We loved sharing this time with other couples as we debriefed each session, visited the wonderful resource room loaded with books and tools to help us, and brainstormed how we could help fan the flame for other Christian grandparents who long to "tell to the coming generation the glorious deeds of the LORD, and his might, and the wonders he has done" (Ps. 78:4).

We both highly recommend attending our Legacy Grandparenting Summit simulcast event on Feb. 21 & 22. You will truly be blessed!
